The Making of Inox

The Inox models were developed and manufactured by Italian based brand, Tecnovap. With over 26 years of experience in steam cleaning machine manufacturing, research and develop, Tecnovap are known as the “pioneers of steam technology”.

The Inox is the latest models of the commercial/industrial range and both feature 30% more steam pressure and volume than any other machine of its kind.

Duplex Cleaning Machines is an exclusive distributor of the Inox range by Tecnovap in Australia and New Zealand, and provides back-up and support through its local suppliers.

Never run out of water

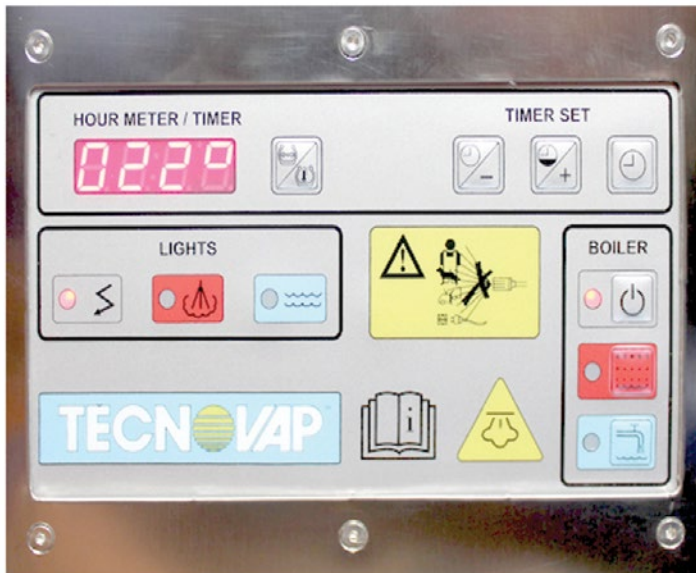

Our easy “connect and go” feature allows for a hose to be plugged directly into the machine providing a 24/7, continuous water supply. No cleaning downtime, no stopping to fill up your machine.

A mind of its own

The advanced digital control panel features a unique timer, allowing for your machine to automatically “wake up” and turn on, and operate by itself.

The easy to use control panel also features digital temperature read out, steam pressure and water connection indicator.

Total Control

The only machine to have both water and detergent injection features. Control it all through a flick of the switch.
